

How will I know if my child develops a problem with gambling?

Here are some warning signs to look for:

- Sudden mood changes
- Feelings of anxiety
- Interest in gambling conversations or use of gambling slang
- Lying, cheating, stealing
- Unexplained absence from school or work
- Less time spent with friends and/or family

A video and activity kit designed to help you talk to your children about PROBLEM GAMBLING.

DontBetYet.com

Why talk to my kids about gambling?

Only 13% of parents believe that their child actually gambles for money¹

IN REALITY...

...68% of youth between the ages of 14 and 21 reported having gambled in the last year²

...11% admit to gambling at twice a week or more²

So what?

Youth gambling consequences include:

- Dropping grades
- Loss of friends/family
- Loss of trust and respect
- Deteriorating health
- Mental health issues
- Destroyed reputation

When to talk...

...early and often!

*If they don't hear it from you first, they'll hear it from someone else.

*The earlier youth start gambling, the more likely they are to have a problem.

How do I start the conversation?

Use teachable moments!

The next time you see a billboard for a gambling venue, or gambling in a movie ask your child what he/she thinks about the gambling behaviors.

Or, visit DontBetYet.com to watch the video with your children and use the activities to get the discussion started.
